Dear friends, in this article, I will write about a topic that I have been talking to my friend, Candy Ki Mounter, for a while now, which is about the issue of the Anunnaki language, during these conversations, she described the Anunnaki language as literally being the Arabic language, only more complex and with more phonemes. Of course, I will not talk about the language, as this is something for Candy, since she knows and remembers the language well.

This theme of the Anunnaki language, made me think of another theme, which is about the question of Semitism, of the Semitic peoples, and of Arabism, of the Arab peoples. Which made me conclude that the Anunnaki can be considered as Semites and Arabs. Of course, with reservations, but the point is that the Anunnaki peoples have similarities and connections, yes, with the Semitic and Arab peoples, and the language is one of those similarities and connections.

The Anunnaki were already present among humans, since before Sumerian times, in the Arabian peninsula. Mesopotamian peoples came from the Arabian peninsula, as did Anunnaki among humans as well. Of course, the Anunnaki have helped humans since the time of the Arabian peninsula, with spiritual and mythical help. One of the main reasons, if not the main reason, for emigration to the Mesopotamian region, was the need to build a civilization in a more formal way and to better help humans. Of course, there were those who stayed on the Arabian peninsula, but still, they were just as helped as those in Mesopotamia.

So, just as we have anti-Semitism and anti-Arabism, we also have anti-Annakanism. There is a campaign, which is already historic, against the Semitic and Arab peoples, mainly with the misrepresentation of the term Semite. And today, we see a very large campaign against the Anunnaki, leading to the creation of anti-Anunnakism. What we conclude is that, as soon as there is a fight against anti-Semitism and anti-Arabism, there must be a fight against anti-anunnakism, because as stated in my previous articles, the Anunnaki helped humans more than they did harm … that the Anunnaki did was the question of Abrahamism which was later expropriated by the Galactic Federation of Light which used it to fight the Anunnaki, the mythical and the pagan religions. Mainly through Christianity and now through intergalactic Christianity. Of course, today we see the unraveling of Judaism and Islam, where Judaism was a cult to a specific Anunnaki god and Islam was another means of creating an identity for the Semitic / Arab peoples and preventing the advance of the Christianity on the Semitic peoples, but that is the subject of a possible new article.

The conclusion we can reach is that the Semitic, Arab and Anunnaki peoples have many things in common, as well as the issue of language, the region of origin on Earth, the spiritual and mythical help to the same, etc. Just as we have a massive campaign against the Semitic, Arab and Anunnaki peoples. So, there are many more connections between the Anunnaki, Arabs and Semites than most of the Antianunnaki speak out there, and this is great for helping the Anunnaki who are on Earth as well as understanding why so many Anunnaki starseeds like Arab things of the Arabic language itself.
